New York, Aug. 1.—Another little girl who had met with the same fate as Amelia Staffeldt, of Elmhurst, L. I., and Viola Boylan, of Harlem, was found murdered in a cellar at 203 First avenue today. She had been the victim of an attack. The skull had been fractured. Coroner Harburger, who went to the scene as soon as the police had notified him of this new crime, said that he thought the body had been six days in the cellar anyhow. It was, he added, the most revolting crime that had ever come to his notice, as coroner. "You can say from me," the little coroner emphatically declared, "that the crimes in Berlin of which the newspapers have told in detail, have not been one-thousandth part as bad as the murder of this little girl."

CHILD KIDNAPPED.

The coroner followed up this statement by refusing to let the photographers go into the building, as he said that conditions were too revolting. The identification in this case was quick. The new victim is Katie Tireschler of 349 East Thirtieth street. She had been missing since a week ago last Thursday. It would seem from the facts that the police have in hand at the present time that the child was kidnapped. The day before her disappearance two boys, according to the story they told the police, saw her meet an Italian at Thirtieth street and Second avenue, and ride north with him on a second avenue car. The Italian gave the little girl some candy, according to the boys. It is the theory that when the girl left her home to go out and play on the following day this Italian met her and lured her away. It is believed that the little girl did not die without a struggle. Whether she was killed before she was attacked or after is a matter which it is left for the autopsy to decide.

This afternoon, on Coroner Harburger's order, central office detectives arrested Glatiano Ripolone, a cobbler. This man, who had already been examined at the time of the little girl's disappearance, made statements which did not satisfy the coroner. Later his partner, Giuseppe Bonasante, was detained as a witness. Dozens of men are out searching for a woman friend of the shoemakers, who is known to have made threats against the murdered child's family.

OTHER ATTACKS.

Three more arrests were made today for attacks on little children. The police of the Alexander avenue station arrested a young Italian of the name of Cabona Faldora, a tailor, Regina Roy, 11 years old, complained that Faldora had tried to lure her into Cedar Park, near her home. John Warda, 31 years old, was arrested by the police of the West 125th street station, on the charge of an attempted attack on Margaret Jordan, 15 years old. John Marga, a waiter, aged 21, was arraigned before Magistrate Butts in the Harlem police court this

STRIKERS ARMED

And Bloodshed Is Feared in Lake
Mining Region as Men Are Highly Wrought Up.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 1.—Information from undisputed sources today is to the effect that the strike situation is most critical. A false step or a hasty move may precipitate violence and bloodshed on the range. The strikers have been worked up to a fever of excitement by agitators, and scenes of riot and disorder may come at any moment. Winchester are seen everywhere. The strikers are arming themselves, and hundreds of special deputies are on the ground acting under Sheriff Bates. The company is doing everything in its power to avert trouble, and the head officers on the ground have placed themselves under the sheriff's orders. Tomorrow will tell the tale.

There is no possibility of trouble at Duluth, Superior and Two Harbors, where the men are at work as before the strike was called. The Western Federation leader has ordered the men to arm themselves and be prepared to strike to kill. He said he did not care how many of them were killed for the cause, and urged the men to fight to the last.

NUMBER SEVEN

Hose House in Crystal
Park Opened Last Night.

BANQUET BY CITIZENS

That the opening of Hose House No. 7 in Crystal Park last night was an event of no small significance to the residents of that section of the city was demonstrated by the throngs of people who were out to inspect the building and equipment and give expression of their appreciation of and gratitude for the new acquisition.

Perhaps the most demonstrative manifestations of their appreciation were the banquets served to the officials and others through whom this long felt want of that section was finally supplied. A very elaborate banquet consisting of fried chicken, turtle soup and all essential accessories was served by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stein, while other palatable refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. William J. Blumann to all who cared to avail themselves of their hospitality.

Mayor A. R. Turnbull and Judge J. P. Fawcett, J. T. Blake and Thomas Dunwoodie and Henry Paulus, clerk of the board of public safety; Fire Chief R. O. Mesnar, Water Works Superintendent Lew. Ohliger, Jerome F. Shepley, secretary of the B. P. S. of Massillon; R. C. James and C. J. Remley, of Massillon; Fire Chief William August, of Alliance; Fire Chief Andrew Burke, of Massillon, and F. S. Peace, of Pittsburg, general manager of the Gamewell Fire and Police system, were among those who inspected the new building and its equipments and all joined in pronouncing it one of the finest appointed houses of its kind to be found anywhere.

Fire Chief R. O. Mesnar expressed his regret at the fact that the city council has not seen its way clear to provide a larger complement of men to man the apparatus of this new house, because, as he expresses it, "It is impossible for three men to practically three different pieces of fire-fighting apparatus combined in one, and I will probably be compelled to draw from some of the other houses of the city, which are now not any too well provided for, in order to render efficient service from this new house No. 7."

Service from house No. 7 will be installed this morning.

PROSPECTIVE GOVERNOR

Of Virginia Charged With Stealing
Whisky from Express Office.

Big Stone Gap, Va., Aug. 1.—A sensational arrest was made here today when James W. Ayres, a prospective gubernatorial candidate was taken into custody on the charge of stealing whiskey from the office of the Southern Express company. Ayres married Miss Jamie Bullitt, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. John F. Bullitt, of Louisville, about a year ago. She is now on a visit to the home of her parents in that city, and has not been apprised of the arrest of her husband. General Ayres has collapsed following the arrest of his son. It is reported that he will seek to have a commission of lunacy investigate the mental condition of his son with a view to placing him in a mental hospital. The case comes to trial. It is also reported that the young man, who is only 27 years old, has been drinking heavily.

SAID TO BE ONLY SALVATION OF
CUBAN REPUBLIC

Americans Will Plan to Expend All
Surplus Funds on Various Improvements.

Havana, Aug. 1.—Among the safeguards to preserve the republic following its re-establishment, is a plan to leave as little money as possible in the treasury. It is the universal opinion, excluding, of course, the politicians, that if there is no money in the treasury the possibility of trouble that might lead to the downfall of the republic will be reduced to a minimum. Consequently plans have been made for vast and much needed public improvements, which will not only use up the income during the time of the American occupation, but will provide for the expenditure of the surplus for several years after the American leave.

The provisional government will start the program of improvement such as road building and accomplish as much as possible during the occupation. It will then turn over the plan to the re-established republic, with what will amount to orders to carry it out. It is recognized that when the Cubans are again in control they will be likely to disregard the plan, but the Americans may find some way of forcing them to carry the work to completion.

The road scheme offers the best illustration of the completed plans. Completed, this work as now planned, will cost $13,000,000 of which $4,500,000 has already been appropriated to be expended during the present fiscal year. The scheme which will ultimately include the entire island; will, however, cost $50,000,000 and as it will be impossible for the Americans to carry the entire work to completion before they leave, part of it will be left as a legacy for the Cubans.

ONE BROTHER

Realizes Other Has Just Died and Falls Lifeless Across Corpses.

Americus, Ga., Aug. 1.—While Arnold and Bramwell Godwin, brothers and wealthy planters, were sitting on the porch of the former's home today telling their families and friends of a three weeks' trip to New York from which they had just returned, Bramwell Godwin rose from his chair, then fell at his brother's feet. Arnold Godwin thrust his hand over his brother's heart and straightening up, cried, "My God, Bramwell is dead." Hardly had the words left his lips when he fell dead across the corpse of his brother. Physicians say heart disease caused death.

U. S. S. CALIFORNIA

Launched at Mare Island With Great
Ceremony—Is Fast Armored Cruiser.

Vallejo, Cal., Aug. 1.—With appropriate ceremony, the cruiser California, the finest vessel ever seen at this naval station, was placed in commission at Mare Island today. The ceremony of raising the flag over her was witnessed by many spectators. The California, which was built by the Union Iron works, was sent to Mare Island yard for completion three months ago, the iron workers' strike in San Francisco preventing the contractors from finishing the work.

She is an armored cruiser of 13,680 tons displacement, with steel hull, twin screws, and horse power of 23,000. She carries a main battery of 18-inch guns and is a sister ship of the South Dakota, now under construction at the Union Iron works. She still is some 200 men short of her full crew of 500, but a large draft is now en route here from the east for duty. Her commander is Captain Thomas S. Phelps.

JAPANESE

Do Not Know What True
Friendship Means According to Corean
Delegate to Hague.

WILL SEE PRESIDENT

New York, Aug. 1.—A little man with a big mission reached New York today in the person of Tjong Out Ki, prince of the royal house of Corea and late unsuccessful suppliant for his country at The Hague. He has come to America to explain in what an unholy fashion Corea has been offended by Japan, hopes to see President Roosevelt and Secretary Root, and interest America into some sort of intervention. As the price of it all, and what has gone before the prince believes Japan is out to kill him as soon as it gets a good chance. He may be assassinated here, he says, but he rather thinks Japan will wait until he gets back to Corea. Prince Ki came on the Majestic with his fellow delegate, Yi Sang Sul, who was vice prime minister of Corea until forced out by the treaty of last November. The third delegate, Yi Tjonne died suddenly at The Hague—not a suicide, the prince says, but of heart failure, when he learned that his emperor had abdicated.

SCORES JAPANESE

The prince looks like a Japanese—so very like a Japanese that today's interviewers were oddly startled when he began his denunciation of the islanders who have set about running things at Seoul. The prince says that the mission of the Coreans at The Hague was duly authorized by the emperor, and that he has the documents in his trunk to prove it. The widespread report to the contrary was, he declared, concocted by Japan, just as she was secretly responsible for the failure of the peace congress to recognize the Coreans. The prince went on: "And now if your nations would only wake up to what Japan is trying to do in the east and in the Pacific. Japanese goods are now going into Corea duty free; English goods are taxed fifty times over. It will be the same in China. Japan is jealous of England because England has so many colonies in the Pacific. She is jealous of the United States because she wants the Philippines—and will get them, too, if you do not look out. Japan is now very warlike and boastful, thinks she could command the world, but you ask me if she will ever fight the United States? Well, here is a figure for you: A well dressed man may have plenty of pockets. But if you are an intelligent people, I ask you not to trust Japan as a friend. The Japanese can not be true friends." The prince and Yi Sang Sul will be in New York two or three days. When they return after a trip to Washington the prince says he may do some public speaking if he gets a chance.

AND BOUNDS.Population Practically
Doubled in Seven Years.100,000 Mark Not Improbable Ten Years
Hence—Increase of
Manufacturing Plants
Largely Responsible.

According to the accepted estimate of one voter to every five inhabitants the present population of the city of Canton passes the 55,000 mark, the quadrennial enumeration as taken by the assessors in 1907 showing that there are 11,143 male inhabitants in the city over the age of 21 years and a total of 31,724 in the county. Of this total the enumeration shows only 164 colored voters in the county, or which 55 are in Canton, 56 in Massillon, 38 in Alliance, 6 in Lexington township, 3 in Paris township, 2 in Plain township and 1 in Jackson township.

The federal census of 1900 places Canton's population at that time at 49,667 and those figures compared with the assessor's enumeration just filed shows an increase in the seven years in Canton's growth of over 25,000 people. Taking the growth of the city during the past seven years as a basis, it is safe to predict that Canton will have a population of 100,000 by the time the next ten years roll around.

The city's fame and growth is due largely to the strenuous efforts put forth by our wide awake board of trade whose work and success in bringing to Canton the many large factories during the past few years has added wonderfully to our population. The extension of the city limits is another reason for the increase in the population, this being the first record filed showing the additions since the city boundaries were extended.

The enumeration in the county by cities and townships as shown by the report which the clerk of courts has filed with the auditor of state is as follows:

City of Canton	11,143
City of Massillon (Perry twp.)	4,983
City of Alliance	5,581
Sugar Creek township	643
Tuscarawas township	1,069
Washington township	622
